

Marketplace Health Coverage for American Indians and Alaska Natives

American Indians and Alaska Natives (AI/ANs) who enroll in health insurance on the Marketplace can continue to receive health care from the Indian Health Service (IHS), tribes or tribal organizations, or urban Indian organizations (ITUs). By enrolling in a Marketplace plan, AI/ANs benefit by having greater access to services that may not be provided by their ITU; and the tribal communities benefit through increased resources to their health programs.

Other benefits of enrolling in a marketplace include:

- Special Enrollment Periods (SEP): Members of federally recognized tribes can enroll in the marketplace plan or change plans throughout the year, not just during the yearly Open Enrollment period.
- Non-tribal members applying on the same application as a tribal member requesting a SEP can take advantage of this SEP. In Marketplaces operated by states, this flexibility may vary.
- Members of federally recognized tribes with certain income levels can qualify for plans with no copays, deductibles, or coinsurance.*
- Affordable Care Act (ACA) coverage including maternity and newborn care, mental health, laboratory services, pediatric services, and more.
